> App Store download link (Apple) :

> Play Store download link (Android) :

More than 15 million people are expected to attend these summer Olympics in France. In comparison, the population of Paris is 2 million. During the games, to prevent terrorist attacks: car and pedestrian traffic will likely be obstructed and in certain places forbidden.

Key olympic infrastructures will be heavily patrolled by both police and military forces. police will stop and search many individuals in both public transports and the streets.

- red zones: around the gray perimeter, pedestrian access authorized without Games Pass, car access prohibited except in exceptional circumstances
- blue zones: around the red perimeter, pedestrian access authorized without Games Pass, regulated car access.

- Remember the type of police (national police, CRS, PAF, gendarmerie), if possible remember the RIO number (7 numbers written on the police officer's chest).
- If the police are violent, ask to stop and scream "You hurt me" multiple times so the bystanders listen.
- You can film the scene or can ask witnesses to film.

The police does not have the right to:
- Refuse being filmed.
- To hit.

- At the end of detention, police must give the person a detention report.
